AutoCAD Crack For Windows

Open Autocad Click on Autocad, which will open up the license. Click on Sign in and authorize with your AAM user id and password Use the keygen Start your Autocad and select the option to import settings Start importing Wait for Autocad to complete Make sure you have the right license id Problem The license key works fine in the trial version of Autocad. But once you try to sign in, the license id is not recognized and you get a message saying "You are not authorized to use this version of Autocad" My Solution I purchased a license for Autocad 2017 Activated the license with my AAM Then tried to sign in using the keygen I still got the same error, no authorization Then I went and downloaded a trial version of Autocad 2017 from Autodesk website Once I activate the license using my AAM and import the settings in Autocad using the keygen, it works Then I purchased the full version of Autocad 2017 (I know it is illegal to use the keygen) But once I activate the license using my AAM and import the settings in Autocad using the keygen, it works again My Question Why did it work for the trial version and why did it not work for the full version of Autocad? A: The trial version you have is older (2014), and the full version of 2017. You can't import the trial settings into the full version of 2017, unless you go through the trouble of getting the full version. 2019 is out and also has the same issues. The original question asked the following: Then I purchased a license for Autocad 2017 Activated the license with my AAM Then tried to sign in using the keygen I still got the same error, no authorization My solution I purchased a license for Autocad 2017 Activated the license with my AAM Then tried to sign in using the keygen I still got the same error, no authorization This is because the keygen works only for 2014, not 2017 or 2019. 2020 is out and has a fix for this, and to get it, you have to purchase the full version of 2017.
