For the first time in a FIFA title, every possible move a player can make in game is analyzed for both intuitive and mechanical game-play responsiveness. This includes: dribbling, passing, receiving, shooting and shooting on goal. FIFA 20 introduced “Fluid Physic Motion” to FIFA, which included flatter animations, weightless motions, body pushes, pops and spins, giving players a more realistic look and feel and a more immersive experience. FIFA 22 introduces “HyperMotion Technology,” which uses motion capture data collected from 22 real-life players playing a complete, high-intensity football match in motion capture suits. The data collected from player movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions is used to power FIFA 22 gameplay. Players will now feel the added weight, power, control and timing of every touch and action in game as a result of this technology. Additionally, HyperMotion will work seamlessly with the new “Fluid Physic Motion,” allowing players to continue to experience the true feeling of real-world football and to include more realistic animations. The player running animations in FIFA 22 have been designed to follow the movement and timing of the player more closely than any prior title, while offering a more lifelike and reactive feeling. With more human-like and reactive animations, players will now move faster, start quicker and take more time to recover. With more responsiveness in gameplay comes a new way of reacting to the ball. By using player-specific techniques, players can correctly time their aerial duels, kicking and catching in a more realistic way. Players will also gain increased power and timing by using the correct technique while the ball is airborne. There will be longer air times, which allows players to perform more intense, longer-distance kicks, as well as more speed to the ball, giving players a more powerful start. FIFA 22 introduces a new “Overload System,” which enables players to begin the game from certain positions, depending on which team they play for. For example, all managers will be able to choose to start the game with a striker or winger free-kick in the goal area. Players and managers can assign free-kicks to one of their own players in game to give them the ability to use that player’s best attributes, with the best free-kicks used by the manager. The Overload System will be supported excess of 50 million copies across PC, PlayStation®, PlayStation® 2, Wii, Xbox 360, Nintendo Gamecube and Game Boy® Color, as well as the iOS and Android platforms. FIFA 20 brings innovations to the FIFA series on every level. Pro Evolution Soccer (PES), published in collaboration with Konami, is the first official videogame license to feature the FIFA brand. FIFA 20 celebrates the 20th anniversary of the FIFA series and brings the classic soccer experience to the latest generation of gaming devices with unprecedented detail, depth and sophistication. Available now for download on PC, Xbox One and PlayStation® 4 systems. You can find out more about FIFA by visiting: fifa.com or by following @EASPORTSFIFA on Twitter or Facebook. FIFA 22 introduces revolutionary new features like Driven Take-ons. It combines the delivery of skillful dribbling and attacking tactics. It's the best way to control player in open play by being able to play on both sides of the pitch with complete freedom. Driven Take-ons require careful timing, timing at the right moment to deliver a shot or pass. This will ensure more of an even-handed match. Players can now Impact the Game in more ways too. In the past, only passing and shooting were making the biggest impact on the game. In FIFA 22, Impact is now central to all the different offensive actions. Players can now influence the game even more during set-pieces, through the use of the new Impact Zone, which is an additional area of the pitch where your passes, off-the-ball movement, shots and headers can all have an impact. There are also all-new Defender Tactic, as well as team management. Defenders can now build up their own style of defending and tailor it to their
