Chapter 2: Grimmjow vs Unschwung ~Note:Ich you are entirely aware of what is going on and you should be.~ Rakudai-kun decided that the correct term for what was going on was bullshit. How can you use a fight against absolute insanity as a competition? True, the opponent had absolutely no idea what was going on, but even if they did, they couldn't make use of it, still couldn't win against absolute absurdity. And shouldn't he be the most absurd one among his allies after all? But what Rakudai-kun was currently experiencing was quite something compared to him. "Kinda dumb. But just now, your power level wasn't that strong. The last time you challenged me, I broke your brain, yes, but your body wasn't affected," Gan-chan said as he looked up at him. The two of them were lying against the side of a cliff that looked slightly like a cathedral. Compared to the past when they faced Ginjou-sama, his opponent was too heavy for him to hold. Rakudai-kun had locked his own arms and legs to the cliff's surface, and it was hard for him to move. Only through a miracle and Amakusa-sama's 'image predicting thing' did Rakudai-kun get away with the tactic he chose. The second situation, however, was different and there was no way out. His bones were like pebbles in his pockets. "Then I'll find a way," Rakudai-kun said without showing any emotion. "..." "That time was of course different. I was calm back then, in the first place, but I was sensing an even greater beyond that. I don't know the limit of my strength. So the way I reacted was because there was no limit," Rakudai-kun said as he looked down at his hands to see the girl on his wrist. As he lightly touched two fingers to her cheeks, Ganta-sensei cried out at the suddenness. Immediately after, Ganta-sensei looked at himself and whispered. "What's happening?" Ganta-sensei didn't seem to possess any emotion when he looked at himself. On the contrary, his expression was like that of a madman. How he thought that wasn't just in his imagination, he didn't know
